Subject: Microsoft Settlement (Support)

Dear Ms. Heese:

I support the recent settlement of the long-running antitrust lawsuit between the U.S. Department of Justice, state attorneys general and Microsoft Corporation. Too, I applaud the nine state attorneys general that decided to follow the federal government's lead and settle the case. However, the decision to pursue this baseless case, made by the remaining state attorneys general and the District of Columbia, is extremely disappointing and needless.

The settlement is fair to all. It will allow Microsoft's competitors to use Microsoft's Windows operating system to incorporate their software programs and will give consumers more services and products to choose from.

As you are well aware, we, the members of Citizens for a Sound Economy, are unrelenting in our opposition to the federal government's antitrust case against Microsoft. For nearly 3 years, activists like myself have called, emailed, visited, and sent letters to the U.S. Department of Justice and to state attorneys' general offices explaining that Microsoft's actions did not harm consumers, but provided them with great benefits by lowering the cost and increasing the availability of software products. We have stressed that Microsoft is a pioneer in the high-technology market and that their products increased our familiarity with the Internet.

I thank you for your decision to settle this unfortunate lawsuit against a successful and innovative company.

Respectfully,

Samuel Butler
